

Elliott Carter, MD

I was born in Columbus, OH and raised in Columbia, SC with two younger siblings. I attended Davidson College for my undergraduate education and I obtained degrees in Biology and Chemistry. I graduated from the Medical University of South Carolina where I discovered my passion for women's health. In my free time, I enjoy cooking exceedingly extravagant meals with my fiancé and running with my three-legged dog, J.D.